United Association Assembles Panel to Advise on Digital Strategies

Recently, the newly appointed United Association Digital Strategy Panel met at UA headquarters in Annapolis to discuss the future of the organization's online presence. The group was assembled from almost 60 nominees from across North America to provide guidance as to the digital preferences of the next generation of UA members. The panel represents each district, all our trades and included 9 apprentices, 3 journeymen and 1 Office Professional. Each member brought a wealth of knowledge to the table assisting us in developing and updating our strategies, content and appearance of our website, social media and the UA App. We are truly grateful for their input and are happy to have them on board as we enter the next phase of enhancing the ways in which we communicate with our members, contractors and the public through digital channels.
